SECOND CENTURY CAMPAIGN

Looking To Tomorrow And Beyond

A Headmaster's Conference, hosted by the Ridley College Board of Governors, will be held at the School on April 27 & 28, 1984. Invited to participate are approximately three hundred members of the Ridley Family, including The Governors, Advisory Council, Officers of the Association, Alumni Class Agents, and Friends of the School.

The Conference's theme is Ridley's present and future. Among the planned topics for discussion are:

- Curriculum Directions I
The arts, humanities and computers
- Curriculum Directions II
Science, mathematics and computers
- Beyond The Curriculum
Extracurricular and athletic enrichment of school life
- Admissions
Topical issues of size and constituency
- Resources and Facilities
Budget, funding sources, financial forecast & physical plant
- Goodbye to Grade 13
Ontario's move toward four years of secondary school as affecting Ridley

Tentatively, the schedule calls for Registration prior to a cocktail party on Friday April 27. That evening's dinner will engage the "Second Century" theme and feature a distinguished speaker. Saturday the 28th, the pace increases, beginning with optional "early-tiger" exercise and run with students, followed by continental breakfast. Seminars start at 9:00 a.m. and carry through until 5:00 p.m. A luncheon with a second speaker provides intermission from the serious talk. In the evening, a relaxing dinner — no speeches, no seminars — closes the Headmaster's Conference, possibly to the accompaniment of orchestral and choral concert by Ridley music students. Thus and otherwise, the present students of Ridley College will actively contribute talent and energy to the Conference's success.

In an address to The Governors' Annual Fall Meeting in November 1983, President of the Board Don McFarlane said, "The potential of this Conference and its resultant effect on the future of the College is indeed exciting."

Conference organizers invite all Alumni, Alumnae and Parents to write their Class or Parent Agents with ideas, concerns, suggestions and needs that you feel ought to be addressed at the Headmaster's Conference of April 27 & 28, 1984.

Headmaster's Message

Dear Parents, Alumni, & Friends of Ridley:

As I write it is the first day of Lent Term, with the skies leaden, the temperature just above freezing, and the ground covered with six-to-eight inches of slush — St. Catharines in the winter! Spirits are good, however, as they usually are at the start of things. In retrospect it was an excellent fall, despite an unfortunate disciplinary crisis during examinations which indicated that we must re-emphasize with our students the importance of integrity and the terrible dangers of taking illicit short-cuts for personal gain. A primarily student group will be evaluating the Ridley Honour Code this winter in terms of how it can be better articulated and understood by all members of the community.

But the Michaelmas Term was, on balance, a fine one for its combination of successful adjustment to the overflow numbers of students in Upper School; the fine record of fall sports including football's two wins over TCS, and one each over Appleby and SAC — only UCC shut us out! Strong extra-curricular activity, included the best fall drama production in some years, a French farce with a large cast and most complex staging entitled "A Flea in Her Ear"; and a strong academic result attested to increased selectivity in admissions and a serious academic commitment. The New Student system, particularly the Big Brother/Big Sister programme of old student advisers for new Grade 10's and 11's worked out well, with the Old Students in some houses writing most articulate (and in most cases, grammatical) reports on their new students that went home either at mid-term or at Christmas. Other houses will be rendering similar reportage in the future. It was heartening, and sometimes amusing, to see Grade 13's offering paternal advice to their young charges!

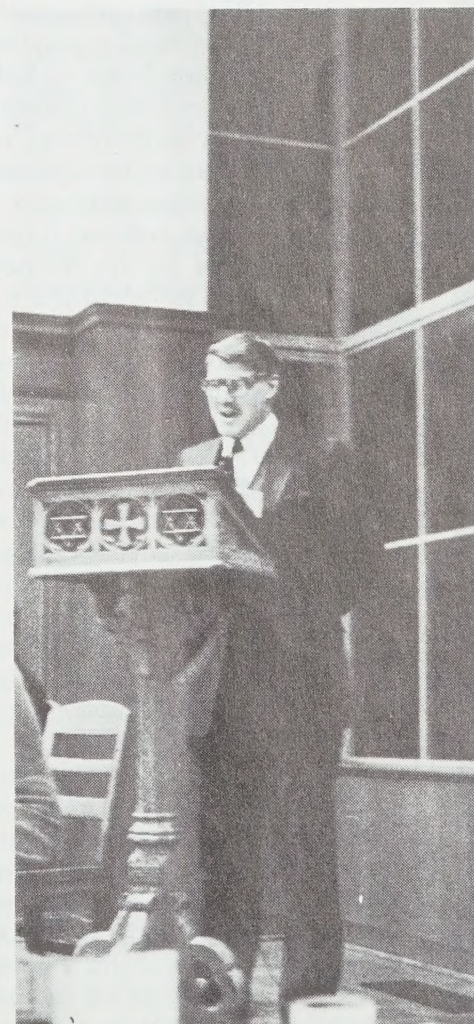

To my mind this is a much more meaningful exercise in leadership and responsibility than watching one's bed be made for the year; "slobbering" — rotational room cleanup for senior students by Grade 10's — now stops at the end of first term.

As "the feature" of this issue of Tiger portrays, the fall also saw a most successful 4th Dimension Week in November, with Ridleians undergoing a myriad of educational experiences outside the regular classroom. Entirely new were the Grade 10 expedition to Fort York, and the Grade 12 and 13 "vocational internships." Several alumni have since indicated to me their willingness to sponsor a Ridley student for four days next November to give them a taste of their business or profession — ranging from a marine artist in Massachusetts to a stockbroker in Toronto. I hope that all alumni will think seriously about the possibility of participating in the "internship" programme next year.

New possibilities in the offing include planning for a major refurbishing for Arthur Bishop House, most probably this summer, with a "division" of the house into two administrative units and the addition of an additional housemaster's apartment at the east end. Furthermore, following the December Report of the Faculty Committee, chaired by Mr. Michael Scott, the decision was made to offer this July, 1984, Ontario's first major independent school residential advanced academic credit summer session. This Academic Summer Session will be for 50 or so students studying one of four subjects for Grade 13 credit: Calculus, Advanced Algebra, English, or Economics. This is not a remedial programme, and our hope is that a challenging academic programme for Grade 13 credit will appeal to bright, highly motivated students from both public and private schools. It would also offer high school or day school students a taste of a residential academic community prior to university. Independent schools in Ontario have hesitated to offer fee-paying summer sessions of much scope in the past because local boards offered free summer credits, but many summer sessions at local boards have been cut back, and the quality of the courses is often low. This new venture will run in conjunction with Sports Ridley camps in hockey, tennis, soccer, and basketball, as well as an expanded version of the highly successful new venture of last summer, the Computer Camps. It all keeps us busy!

Lieutenant Colonel A. C. "Andy" Iggulden

1913 - 1983

The Ridley Family have lost one of their most loved and respected members in Andy Iggulden and close their ranks to offer a collective expression of sympathy to Brian, Anne and Paul. Colonel Iggulden died suddenly at his home on Friday 28 October. Some years ago he suffered a lengthy illness, but recently Andy seemed to regain his strength and we all began again to take for granted his presence in Chapel and his brisk orbits of the campus on his bicycle.

Recent graduates and current students saw a cheerful, benign countenance looking out at them, but generations of boys who passed under his steady gaze will recall to mind an entirely different man. I think for Ridley boys the Colonel's story probably begins with his experiences in W.W.II. His capture by the Japanese and subsequent incarceration in a concentration camp assumed heroic proportions. When he was released after 3½ years he weighed 93 pounds. One immediately wonders what kind of emotional and physical resources enable a person to survive that particular hell; but there were dimensions to this man of courage, tenacity and resilience — essential Christian features — that marked him out as special. Stories passed along about his early days at Ridley have become enshrined — certainly his period of adjustment could not have been easy. Of course, one suspects that it could not have been easy at any time to be "Cap" Iggulden's son — in his own way severe and unyielding — but when Andy joined the Staff in 1949 the boys tested him unmercifully. His wife, Ethel, to whom he was deeply devoted, shared those early trials, the original frustration with energetic or recalcitrant boys, and enabled him to find his deepest strengths. Paradoxically, his wartime suffering and subsequent struggles yielded a new vigour, an expanded capacity for understanding and compassion.

"The Colonel" (or, as so many once referred to him, "The Major") offered a concentrated, fiery presence. He captured the imagination with an incongruous mixture of sternness and self-effacing good humour. Innumerable people will remember the familiar, gravelly incantation, "You horrible-looking MONSTER!" You knew instantly that you'd done something wrong — that you were the one whose "two left feet" had put the entire platoon out of step — and you stood shaking, caught in limbo somewhere between absolute panic and convulsive laughter. After all, beneath the Colonel's rugged, uncompromising exterior lay a comic actor's sense of timing. He had a marvellous way of making the disciplined life seem reasonable and practical, even compelling. The Colonel presided over countless Cadet Inspections, his own distinguished bearing lending to erect posture, precision in drill and a general spit 'n polish smartness a certain theatrical charm. On days of sunshine and urgency, preparing to faint in the heat of early May, his voice would be in your ear telling you to relax, and nerves and muscles would suddenly reassert control.

His life was often a public offering, so that much of what lingers in the mind tastes of ceremony and display; but his sense of commitment, public or private, was firm. Indeed, for Ridley's great men — the people without whom the School would be very different — the imperative has always been service: to one's family, to the School, to the community, and to one's friends and colleagues; and in Andy's life the territory of generosity seemed ever expanding. He gave a part of himself to so many. His view of the preciousness of life, consecrated as it was to helping boys find a place in the world, made words like tradition, service, integrity and faith urgently comprehensible.

Latterly, the girls of Dean's House and Gooderham House East (of which Rosemary Iggulden is the Housemistress) discovered a warm, witty, avuncular man whose wealth of stories was an inexhaustible source of wisdom and entertainment. In retirement Andy established a place for himself, his energy and self-deprecating posture continuing to persuade people to his way of looking at the world. We have his example before us, and now can actively furnish our minds with memories of this great man.

From the Tower . . .

Over the summer several Old Ridleyans received their gold Duke of Edinburgh Awards in London, Ontario from Prince Phillip himself. The Old Boys were Ian Duqueman (O.R. '82), Mike Moore (O.R. '82), Lisa Kertesz (O.R. '82), Rob Lewkowitz (O.R. '82), and Charlie Frosst (O.R. '81) . . . A handful of Ridleyans were exposed to a touch of class on October 12 when they went to Toronto to watch the Royal Ballet's performance of Turandot, Grade 11 English classes enjoyed Shakespeare's Twelfth Night at Hart House, also on October 12 . . . This year for the first time in the St. Catharines area a team from Ridley was entered in the high school Grape Olympics as part of the Grape & Wine Festival at the end of September. The team consisted of Tigger Walker, Darby Berkhout, Rob Ingall, John Orr, and Dominic Powell; as well as Anne Mason, Anu Bhalla, and Kris Pollock. The team surmounted in the 25 ft. greased pole with the best time overall . . . The Big R Bazaar, chaired this year by Mrs. Joan Bentley of St. Catharines held on Saturday, October 15 has raised close to $14,000 for the Niagara Branch of the Ridley College Women's Guild, 65% of whose earnings each year go to scholarships and bursaries . . . A brief note on one of Ridley's ESU students; a British news clipping from the Shropshire Star on October 6 featured a photograph of Jennifer Collier (O.R. '83), now an ESU student at Moreton Hall School, as she collected tickets on a steam engine outing in Wales . . . The annual Cadet Mess Dinner was held on October 11 with Major Joe Veitch addressing the officers and NCOs . . . The Ridley Forum hosted its initial visitor on October 25, as Laura Sabia spoke on 'Sex, Sin & Political Apathy' to 40 - 50 students and staff; the question period was well spirited . . . Late fall retrospect From the Tower should include mention of the outstanding performance of Ridley associated crews and persons at the famous Head of the Charles (River) Regatta in Cambridge, Massachusetts, October 29th. A Syracuse boat including four of last year's alumni (Jason Dorland, Kevin O'Brien, and David Walker) came in second in the men's club 8's; a Ridley Graduate Boat Club double came in second; and Canadian Olympic hopefuls rowing under Ridley Graduate Boat Club colours in the Men's Championship 8's also came in 2nd . . . On a different athletic front, Chris Stevens, new Grade 10 from St. Catharines, placed 14th out of 220 runners in his age group at the Ontario Cross-Country Championships in London, Saturday, November 5 . . . Events on campus included a Canadian Institute of International Affairs St. Catharines Branch Meeting, November 3, in the Double English Room. Mr. William d'Villiers, 2nd Sec. South African embassy in Ottawa gave an official viewpoint on the recent constitutional vote in South Africa . . . On Friday, November 11, a local St. Catharines choral group, "The Ambassadors of Praise," directed by Ridley Assistant Music Master, Thom Mitchell, sang in the Chapel . . . On Sunday, November 20, the baptism of David Reinitzer, son of physics and math teacher Mr. Gero Reinitzer, was graced with the presence of a French horn ensemble including Eugene Rittich, principal horn of the Toronto Symphony . . . November 27, French students attended a performance of Michel Tremblay's A Tousjours, ta Marie-Lou at Brock University . . . On November 29th, Grade 13 art students had a day-long field trip to the Royal Ontario Museum and the Art Gallery of Ontario . . . Debating this fall, aside from the Winnipeg trip, included an all-female Ridley contingent at the St. Clement's Senior Debate Tourney, 15 October, at which Melanie Mitra, Gina Black, and Nadine Karall acquitted themselves well as neophytes in a senior tourney; also the Merritt Scott Library was the scene of an exhibition debate with a team from Grimsby High School on November 18th . . . Great Ridley Food (?) was honoured by Beaver Food Service itself on November 16, when Ridley B.F.S. manager John Hodgson received the President's Plaque designating his Ridley chefs and kitchen personnel as Regional Unit of the Year for Ontario West . . . On October 27th, the trustees of the New York based Mandeville Foundation notified the trustees of Ridley Scholarship Fund U.S.A. of a gift to be forwarded in April of $100,000 U.S. to establish a Terence Cronyn Memorial Scholarship Fund, as an addition to the approximately $1 million (Cdn) funds held for Ridley endowment in the States. An anonymous member of the Board of Governors has also donated $20,000 to the Ridley College Foundation as the nucleus of a Terence Cronyn Fund . . . The 1983 Christmas Card Contest was won by Peter Willett '84, E.S.U. student from Brighton, England, with Clarke Smith '84, of Edmonton, runner-up; the design is a colourful new departure, featuring a tiger following the star to Bethlehem! . . . On November 15, Miss Virginia Medland joined the Ridley Staff as Development Director with primary responsibility for the School's part in the upcoming Centennial Campaign . . . All of Ridley joined the Iggulden family in mourning the death of LCol. Andy Iggulden on October 28. Andy retired in 1976 after 30 years as Cadet and Physical Education instructor . . . Arctic Exchange — Ridley students will be going to the Great Whale River in northern Quebec in the week of March 18. Arctic students will visit Ridley in mid-April . . . Drama at Ridley plans a late winter term extravaganza of more than one short play, altogether involving at least 30 students on the stage. It is a year of comedy, with probably a Jean Anouilh one-act "absurdity"; possibly a two-man comedy entitled "The Dock Brief" as a vehicle for comedy star ESU student Peter Willett coming on the heels of his spectacular international-character portrayal of the Englishman in "Flea in Her Ear"; and possibly a production of a two-act play by Walter Eccles, '84.

The Fourth Dimension

How does the school slot over 400 students into an individualized beyond-classroom experience without disrupting the academic program adversely? How do we expose our students to a wide variety of activities and opportunities which, over their time at Ridley, they would not otherwise obtain? Our answer to these questions is found in Ridley's Fourth Dimension. In its eighth year of operation, it is hard now to imagine the week in November before the mid-term break without this annual scattering of the student and staff body.

The Grade Thirteens for the most part engaged themselves in the exploration of various universities. These visits, done individually or in small groups, are now recognized as the single best source of information for students making their all-critical university choice. A smaller number of the Graduating Class spent their week in New York City as part of the Art History course.

The Grade Twelves were involved in a variety of activities which were designed to cater to more specific interests. These included a Coaching Clinic at the school, certificating candidates in refereeing and coaching skills; a Music Experience, also based at Ridley but exploiting the Toronto musical and cultural scene; a tour of Ontario's northland for geography students who visited mining and pulp and paper installations in the Timmins area; and the ever-popular tour of Quebec designed to expose students to the French culture and spirit of that historic city. The cast of the Drama Society's production 'A Flea in Her Ear' gained a valuable week in concentrated rehearsal and set-construction.

The Grade Elevens were kept together in their trek to Camp Kandalore in Haliburton. There they roughed it for the week learning some camping, canoeing and hiking skills, climbing rock faces and eating army rations.

While the bulk of the Grade Tens went to Ottawa to see our government in action, to visit an embassy or two and to experience a variety of museums, a smaller group went to Toronto's old Fort York to experience life as it was in 1812.

The Fourth Dimension has evolved over the years into something which both staff and students enjoy and look forward to. It has both course-related benefits and experiential advantages which we believe we have an obligation to provide to all of our students. Aside from these factors, we see additional opportunities for student leadership to emerge; we see a given grade level become more closely knit; we witness students getting to know each other in new ways; and staff-student relationships deepen on many different planes.

We also had an interesting and successful experiment this year with parent assistance as well as with two new programs. The program works; those involved benefit greatly; and I think we can safely say that we are contributing to the great eye-opening that education should really be.

Co-Ordinator '83

Accepting The Challenge

I think the success of the Fourth Dimension programme depends on one's willingness to accept a challenge. Each student is strongly encouraged to undertake a challenge. The Grade Thirteen students have an opportunity to explore university campuses in Ontario, Quebec and New England, and the challenge before them is to seek out administrators, professors and other students and ask probing questions — to find answers that will enable them to determine the kind of university at which they want to spend a period of their life. The Grade Tens go to Ottawa where they absorb something about this country's political life; they have to try to imagine what life would be like for a politician representing a constituency. In Quebec City, the Grade Twelves are challenged in a primarily cultural and linguistic way. They are exposed to a different way of life, a different cultural milieu, and prodded to test their developing facility with French. The experience at Camp Kandalore for Grade Elevens, the one with which I am most familiar, on the other hand, is fundamentally physical.

Kandalore involves the development of camping and survival skills while living ruggedly in a spartan setting. The trip requires a degree of physical stamina (as I think each one does, though at Kandalore the endurance factor is obvious), a certain level of energy — one has to be resilient. When it's raining, for example, and you've just covered eight miles in the bush with another five before you reach camp, you've got to absorb a little discomfort, nothing desperate really, but you've got to be stoical. Or when you've just made a wrong move in your canoe and found yourself in twenty feet of five degree water, then calmness is necessary; otherwise there could be trouble. Urgency prevails in skill development because boys and girls realize that skills are absolutely necessary — they have to learn in a rudimentary way a level of competence quickly, or the result may be disaster.

There were many at Kandalore who accepted, quite cheerfully and supportively, the physical challenge; these were people who pushed themselves, who managed to be enthusiastic and carve out the means of enjoyment. In this kind of situation, one naturally looks for a little character, for the people who are capable of looking out for themselves but who also have the capacity to accept responsibility for others. And because of the setting and the importance of acquiring skills, the reliable ones emerged with astonishing quickness.

The four day Fourth Dimension programme is demanding for many, but the demands of each individual trip teach the energetic, and also the less committed, something about themselves and the way in which exposure to challenges improves the quality of life.

New Computer Studies Department

Ridley College, as of November 1983, has a new department of Computer Studies, under the chairmanship of Michael Hamilton. The creation of a distinct academic discipline indicates a broadening of the role of the computer in the college's curricula.

For more than five years, a one year single credit course in computers has been offered under the aegis of the Mathematics Department. Sixteen Commodore PET computers, acquired in the late seventies, have recently been augmented by six new Super PET machines whose more diverse capabilities will serve the greater needs of the new department. Four of the PET computers have been allocated to the Lower School recently as part of the expansion of the programme.

The perception amongst the faculty, especially the Maths teachers overseeing the computer course to date, had been that wider possibilities for the use of computers in education at Ridley had not as yet been realized. A committee of investigation identified three ameliorative targets to be struck by the creation of a separate department of Computer Studies. The first is the exposure of the general student body, Upper and Lower School, to an awareness of computers and facility with their multiple uses. The thinking was that, as long as computers were the exclusive concern of the Mathematics Department, they would be perceived as merely sophisticated adding machines. They are, of course, much more.

The new department wishes to expose Ridley students to the widest efficacy of computer use and will not settle for so-called "computer literacy." Such a narrow definition is henceforth insufficient. The intent is to make the computer a tool known through a range of usage across the curriculum.

Plans for increased employment of computer skills include such areas as word processing in subjects like English and History. The Super PET machines can produce colour graphics appropriate for work in Art and for charts and graphs in Geography and Economics. These computers can also generate sound, allowing them to be used for the composition of music.

For potential computer scientists, the department will offer as a second main purpose an advanced course at the Grade 12 level. This course will familiarize students with the five languages which the Super PET is capable of: Basic, Fortran, Cobol, Pascal and Assembler.

As a third aim, the Computer Studies department hopes to teach the teachers at Ridley, providing them with skills and materials to enhance the inter-disciplinary role of the computer at the College. Workshops will be held to instruct and encourage the faculty.

Mr. Hamilton, who will share teaching duties in the department with Messrs Munroe and Rattenbury, considers the study of computers to be superior even to mathematics as a means of teaching logical thinking. He cites the somewhat surprising admission of a number of students who say that learning to programme has had a positive effect on their essay writing. Mr. Hamilton, who has been teaching mathematics at Ridley since 1977, looks forward to further benefits to accrue from the broader definition of the function of computers in education.

Cross Country Dinner

The School Cross-Country Race, this November's winners:

Senior Boys: Alan Mawhinney '85, of Niagara Falls, ON.

Intermediate Boys: Grant Mottershead '86, of West Vancouver, BC.

Junior Boys: Mark Silverwood '86, of Brampton, ON.

Girls' Open: Liz Murphy '84, of Toronto, ON.

Junior Girls: Lisa Lockyer '85, of Arva, ON.

Speaker at the 93rd Annual Cross Country Dinner on December 1st was Newfoundlander, Tim Reid, '78, currently working with Pittfield, McKay & Ross in Toronto. A School Prefect and Mason Gold winner, who was not a distinguished athlete during his Ridley career, Mr. Reid spoke on the opportunities and benefits of participation at Ridley.

Ridley Hockey

At the Lawrenceville-Princeton Christmas Tourney we battled it out with Niagara Frontier rival Nichols School of Buffalo to stay out of the tournament cellar — and came out on top by one overtime goal, scored by John Cleary, '84, of Snyder, NY! The suspension of three starters for Honour Code infractions two days before the tournament, and the broken thumb of top scorer, Graham Stanley, '85, of St. Catharines halfway through the first game, are no excuse for losing to Belmont Hill, and Taft — but they place the standing in context. A small Ridley gathering for players, coaches, three sets of parents, the Headmaster, and local Alumni, was held at the Princeton home of Don Thompson, '63.

Sports Ridley Director, Brian Iggulden, offered for the second year in a row a Christmas vacation half-day hockey clinic for local youth at the Ridley Rink; over 60 boys enrolled in separate goalie and regular skating camps.

Association Week End

This year's Association Week End was held on the 21st, 22nd and 23rd of October. Once again there were a very large number of Alumni who returned to the School to swap tales of nostalgia and to enjoy Ridley hospitality. The weather was very cooperative and contributed greatly to the festivities.

On Friday evening the Reunion Classes of '78, '73, '68, '63, '58, '53, '48, '43 and '33 held their own special individual parties. These social gatherings were enjoyed by all as they brought together classmates who had not seen each other in many a year.

Saturday morning began on a rather sad note. After a Special Meeting of the Association to adopt new changes in the Constitution, there was a Memorial Service for Terry Cronyn, 'Mr. Ridley', who passed away in early July. The Rev. Donald P. Hunt, Headmaster of the Lower School and a long-time friend of Terry, delivered the eulogy.

After the service, the Old Boys adjourned to the Performing Arts Centre for the Forum on 'Ridley Today'. Mr. H. Jeremy Packard, Headmaster, chaired the Forum which included Mrs. Janet Lewis and Mr. Donald P. Hunt, staff members, along with David Carter representing the Lower School, and Steve Burpee, a prefect in the Upper School. Mrs. Lewis spoke on the Ridley loan program, a new idea for financial assistance. The Alumni also had a chance to catch up on the School's ongoing activities.

The Annual General Meeting followed the Special General Meeting. Mr. E. Peter Elwood, '66, the Association president, presided. The amended Constitution was approved.

Senior students conducted tours of the campus following the meetings. For those Alumni who had not been back to the School for many years, the tours were very instructional in acquainting them with the Ridley of today.

Following the meetings, beer and sherry were served by senior students in the foyer of the P.A.C. A fine buffet lunch was served in the Great Hall, which offered visitors a chance to see the changes which had taken place.

The afternoon's football game against St. Andrews was enjoyed by all; we won. Following the game the Old Boys were treated to draft beer or wine in the Griffith Sports Building.

The Dinner/Dance in the Great Hall

provided an enjoyable evening for about 250 people. John Hodgson, Manager of Beaver Foods Ltd., provided a magnificent roast beef buffet with all the trimmings. A live band, 'Platinum', entertained the guests with a wide variety of music. Prizes were awarded for the greatest distance travelled, and they were won by Alfredo Acosta, '58, from Caracas and Tommy Rink, '63, from Milan. Mr. Ross Wiggs, '15, took the award for the most senior Alumni present.

The Sunday Chapel Service brought back many a fond memory as the old and favourite hymns were sung. Rev. Dr. Michael D. Jackson, '58, who was celebrating his 25th reunion, delivered the sermon.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald P. Hunt entertained the guests in their home after the service. This was a very gracious finale to a Week End which renewed many friendships and rekindled fond feelings for the School in those who attended.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank those students who acted as guides, speakers, bartenders, etc. during the Week End. Special thanks must go to Robin MacAulay for her excellent job in organizing the volunteers.

Frank A. Hollinrake

Erratum

In the last issue, it was reported that the Ridley College Foundation received a substantial donation of bonds and securities from an Old Boy of the Class of 1923. Our anonymous benefactor is, in fact, of the Class of 1922.

Branch Meetings

HAMILTON DISTRICT

The first meeting of the Hamilton District branch in several years was held on Thursday, 22 September at the charming old home of LCol. Ted Cutbill '32 and his wife Jean. Our Branch chairman Norm Embree '62 organized the gathering. Forty of our Alumni, Current and Past Parents with wives or lady friends attended. Jere Packard, our Headmaster, with his wife, Ingrid, along with Sam and Libby Heaman represented the School. After a pleasant social meeting the Headmaster brought all the Association members up to date on the state of Ridley at this the beginning of the school year.

VANCOUVER

Bill Marler '66, the Branch chairman organized the meeting which was held on a lovely evening, Thursday, 29 September. The location was the University Club of Vancouver, overlooking the harbour. Over fifty Association members including Alumni along with Current and Past Parents attended. They were all pleased to watch the NFB documentary 'Ridley: A Secret Garden'. This was followed by a talk from Jere Packard, our Headmaster, which brought our far western members up to date on recent happenings at Ridley. A good number of questions from the members present showed their interest in the School. Sam and Libby Heaman were also present representing the Association and the Foundation.

Vancouver: Col. Bob Rogers '27, Mildred McClelland, Judge Arthur McClelland '31, John Rapsey '29, Phyllis Rapsey.

CALGARY

John Burns '60, our Association Branch chairman and a member of the Board of Governors, organized, and with his lovely wife Suzanne, hosted the meeting in the Ranchmen's Club on Monday, 3 October. All told about sixty five Association members including three or four prospective parents attended. After the usual social function our Headmaster, Jere Packard spoke on Ridley in the 80's which was well received and which provoked some stimulating questions from those present. Attending with Jere was his wife Ingrid, along with Sam and Libby Heaman.

Hamilton: Norman Embree, Branch Chairman, Roger Thompson, current parent, Margaret Thompson, current parent.

VANCOUVER ISLAND

For the first time since the 60's a meeting of Ridley College Association members was held in Victoria. The impetus for this meeting was provided by Mrs. Dorothy Doolittle, a member of the Board of Governors and a Past Parent of the School. About thirty five island residents attended the meeting which was held at the lovely home of Dorothy and her husband Ridley (a TCS graduate) on Sunday, 2 October. Those attending enjoyed the screening of the NFB documentary movie, 'Ridley: A Secret Garden'. The Headmaster, Jere Packard, initiated a question and answer period that was most enjoyable. Accompanying Jere from Ridley were his wife Ingrid along with Sam and Libby Heaman.

Victoria: H. J. Packard, Dorothy Doolittle, past parent, Board of Governors, Mrs. Hazel Travers, past parent, Dr. David Derry '56.

Calgary: Pat Boswell '42, Wendy Bunston, wife of David Bunston '76, Ted Mills '48, Doug Leighton '72.

EDMONTON

Once again Peter Jenner '59, our genial Branch chairman organized a most enjoyable meeting of Association members in the very gracious home of his mother, Mrs. F. T. Jenner, on the evening of Wednesday, 5 October. Close to sixty Alumni, Current Parents and Past Parents attended including A. Hoadley Mitchell, a Past Parent and member of the Advisory Council of the Board of Governors and John Ferguson, a Current Parent with three sons at Ridley and a Governor of the School. Jere Packard, our Headmaster, along with Sam and Libby Heaman represented the School at the meeting.

Edmonton: Tom Payne '68, Don Wheaton, current parent, A. Hoadley Mitchell, past parent, advisory council, Peter Jenner, Branch Chairman, '59.

UNITED KINGDOM

For the first time in many years a representative from the School was able to attend the Annual General Meeting of the branch that was held at the Cavalry & Guards Club in London on Wednesday, 9 November. Sam Heaman brought greetings from St. Catharines to the two dozen branch members who attended. The meeting, under the chairmanship of Col. Ed Berwick, was most interesting. Included among those present were two '83 Ridleians attending public schools in England under the auspices of the English Speaking Union, David Conklin and Gary Kirk. In addition to the Chairman, the executive of the branch includes Michael Turner '51, the secretary and Allan Ruddle '46, the treasurer.

Following a most pleasant meal, Sam Heaman, after bringing greetings from the Headmaster, Jere Packard and Peter Elwood '66, the Association president, screened the NFB documentary movie, 'Ridley: A Secret Garden' which was very much enjoyed by the branch members. It was an evening to remember and it is hoped that a Ridley or Association representative will be able to attend annual branch meetings in the future with some regularity.

BERMUDA

Jere and Ingrid Packard attended the Bermuda branch meeting that was held at the Royal Hamilton Amateur Dinghy Club on Wednesday, 9 November. About fifty Alumni and Current Parents took the time to attend and hear from Jere on how the School is coping with the 80's. In addition to he and his charming wife Ingrid, Jere took the NFB documentary movie, 'Ridley: A Secret Garden' for a second showing on the islands. The meeting was an enjoyable affair according to all who attended. We welcome the new executive for the branch who organized the meeting. Alan Gamble '71 is chairman, Hugh Davidson '60 and Jim Butterfield '70 are vice chairmen of the branch.
